Three Little Pigs built houses. The houses are made from straw, wood, and bricks.

One day a wolf came to town. He was hungry for pigs. He shouted, “I will huff and puff. I will blow this house down!” It worked! The straw house and wood house both blew away. Luckily, both pigs fled to their brother’s brick house.

The wolf huffed and puffed on the brick house. But nothing happened. He tried again, and again. Finally, he stomped away.

The three pigs lived happily ever after in the safe brick house.
